

WerCS Professional Services

Extend Yourself. Improve Your Bottom line.

Introducing WerCS Professional Services, a Hazard Communication Outsourcing Solution.

As your business grows, you are continuously confronted with new challenges. Whether you are in the acquisition stage, reallocating resources, adding a new product line or expanding internationally, the need for a thorough materials compliance management program is an absolute necessity.

WerCS Professional Services (WPS) bridges the gap between your business needs and the growing challenges in materials compliance. We combine 20 years of global hazard communication experience with the latest technologies to provide you with an outsourced solution for material safety data sheet ((M)SDS) authoring, managing, distributing, translating and much more.

Based on 20 years of focused experience in environment, health and safety, WPS is uniquely positioned to serve as an extension of your EH&S department. Our integrated services advance compliance and save you time and money. Additionally, many of our core services are offered in concert with The WERCS® software. The WERCS is recognized as the industry's safest long-term hazard communication software.

WPS helps customers advance materials compliance and free up internal resources by providing the following services:

(M)SDS Authoring

Our trained, certified authoring professionals can create, update and even translate your product (M)SDSs using the most robust authoring software on the market. With The WerCS' authoring service, you can rest assured that your document complies with all local, national and international regulations, including ANSI, EU, and other global formats. For those customers currently utilizing The WERCS, our staff can provide industry and customer-specific rule writing services that will allow you to achieve complete automation in the creation of your (M)SDSs.

(M)SDS Management

Our staff can help you meet and exceed OSHA guidelines by providing you with a centralized database for all of your internal and vendor (M)SDSs. We can scan, index and upload all (M)SDSs and provide intranet access to all your employees.

(M)SDS Translation

By working in The WERCS environment, our staff can efficiently meet your (M)SDS translation requirements. We have access to more than 4,500 international phrases from more than 40 languages.

(M)SDS Software Hosting

For those companies with limited IT resources, we can host The WERCS application for your business at our facility. We will maintain, update and provide your staff with remote access to your specific applications.

(M)SDS Distribution

To further enhance customer service, we can host your supplier, raw material and finished goods (M)SDSs while providing you with a searchable web page link on your home page. Your customers can now have real-time access to all your (M)SDSs.

Project Management

To help in the successful implementation and deployment of The EH&S software, we can serve as your internal project lead. We can conduct internal project tracking and communicate activity reports to the department heads. We can also facilitate issue prioritization and resolution, manage project schedules and financials, and communicate budget impacts as appropriate. In addition, we can facilitate end-user communication, training and acceptance.

Think of Weracs Professional Services as an Extension to Your EH&S Department.

Certified Staff

Central to WPS is its team of certified professionals. We have specially trained and qualified chemists, toxicologists and global regulatory experts qualified to use The WERCS application software suite. Each professional services project is lead by a project manager who will oversee all aspects of your project including deliverables, timelines and budgets. Our mission is to make our services completely seamless for you and your staff.

Proven Software Environment

The WERCS is the established global standard for the automation of authoring, distributing and managing (M)SDSs and other hazard communication documents. Industry experts and analysts, such as The Gartner Group and Deloitte, have consistently recommended The WERCS as the "best-of-breed" software solution for global material compliance for the chemical and allied industries. The WERCS serves as the EH&S foundation for such companies as Halliburton, Johnson & Johnson, Cytec, Celanese, Henkel/Loctite, PPG Industries, Baxter, CIBA, GE, Goodyear and Pfizer, as well as many others.

Additional Services Available:
